

INDIANA AND MICHIGAN STATE HAPPENINGS

PARTY LEADERS SEE
ELECTION VICTORY

Democrats Say Wilson Will Carry Indiana by at Least 30,000 Votes.

News-Times Special Service:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—While leaders of both political parties are full of confidence outwardly, underneath the surface one finds a well-founded belief that Indiana will continue to be known as a doubtful state until the ballots are counted tomorrow night.

Democratic leaders are predicting President Wilson's majority at from 20,000 to 50,000 and agree that he will run ahead of the state ticket. They are confident that Sen. Thomas Taggart will run far ahead of his republican opponent, James E. Watson, and will get a greater majority than will Sen. Kern over Harry S. New.

At the republican headquarters predictions of a republican majority of 10,000 to 25,000 are heard. It is believed that James P. Goodrich, candidate for governor, will lead the republican ticket. The republican hopes have soared high since Charles E. Hughes made his two-day campaign in the state last week.

Indiana voters are confident of only one thing—that the next vice president will be a Hoosier. Both Charles W. Fairbanks, republican nominee, and Thomas R. Marshall, vice president, are expected to hear the election returns here.

MAY START MOVEMENT TO GET SOLDIERS JOBS

Indiana Guardsman Writes to Indianapolis Asking What Is to be Done.

International News Service:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—A movement may be started here soon to obtain jobs for all members of the Indiana national guard at the border, who may need them upon their return. E. R. Trumbull, member of the first Indiana machine gun company, writing from Llano Grande, Texas, writes:

"What arrangements are being made or will be made for the several hundred members of the Indiana national guard to secure employment upon their return to the federal service and return to their home state?"

"Quite a number of the men have their old places guaranteed to them upon their return, and the writer is one of these. But what about the others?"

"Don't you think it would be worth while to start some sort of movement along this line, to the end that these boys will have a job when they get back from the border?"

FORD DENIES HIS PLANS ARE RASH

Will Seek Raising of Injunction Besought by Dodge Brothers on Nov. 11.

News-Times Special Service:

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 6.—Henry Ford, in a statement made public Saturday, denied that his plans for greatly expanding the Ford Motor Co.'s business could be "considered reckless and unwise." His statement was in reply to a temporary injunction which Horace and John F. Dodge, automobile manufacturers, obtained against the Ford company last Thursday restraining the company from using its assets to develop its business along lines recently announced by Mr. Ford.

In their injunction petition the Dodge brothers, who own 10 per cent of the Ford Motor Co. stock, demanded that most of the company's immense surplus should be paid out in dividends to stockholders. They allege Mr. Ford's plans to buy iron mines, establish blast furnaces on the Detroit river near here and double or triple the capacity of the Ford plant in Detroit were reckless and unwise.

Mr. Ford declared in his statement Saturday that the keynote of his company's success had been its ability to sell a tremendous number of automobiles at a small margin of profit on each car. This idea, he said, was to be carried out in his expansion plan. Speaking of the Dodge brothers' assertion that the proposed plan would bring financial injury to them, Ford said:

"They own 10 per cent of the stock and I own about 58 per cent. I can't injure them $10 worth without at the same time injuring myself $58."

The injunction is to be heard here on Nov. 11. It has temporarily tied up about $52,000,000 and seeks to compel Mr. Ford to distribute about $39,000,000 of this amount in dividends.

YOUNG FOREIGNER HAS TROUBLE OVER HIS VOTE

Registers Before He Is Twenty-one, His Birthday Coming Before Election.

International News Service: INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—The registration law is responsible for many unusual situations, in which a voter may violate the law without intention.

In one case here, a young foreigner who contemplated taking out his first citizenship papers as soon as he reached 21, would become of age between registration day and election day. He registered, and was told later he had violated the law because he was not a citizen. But now, being 21, he proposed to file his papers. Then the question confronted him: "Has he violated the law and has he preserved his vote?" Attorneys are investigating.

A STATEMENT THAT WILL STAND

During the present week a great many voters in St. Joseph county have received a reproduction of a public endorsement made in behalf of my candidacy for the office of Prosecuting Attorney. In connection with that endorsement there was a statement which outlined my policy as regards the discharging of the duties of the office to which I hope to be elected.

Realizing that the distribution of the endorsement could not and did not reach all the voters I herewith make the statement again, just as it appeared in its original form, with the hope that it may come to the attention of many who have not been privileged to read and consider it:

"I seek the prosecutor's office not for the salary nor for its political aspects but for the clean and firm purpose of conducting that office on a business basis and running the office as it is meant by the statutes. I firmly believe that the prosecutor that would enforce the law would wipe out all kinds of petty vice in the county and I intend to enforce the law as it is on the statutes whenever the evidence is presented to me, without fear or favor to any person or faction. I am conscious of the fact that I did not make the law and feel that I would be bound by conscience and duty to enforce the law under all reasonable circumstances."

With this before the voters who will hold the deciding power next Tuesday, I ask the support of those who would approve of the policy I have promised to pursue.

My interests will be well cared for if you vote a straight Republican ticket. If you vote otherwise the small lever over my name pulled down and allowed to remain down will perform the same service to my advantage.

Should you vote by numbers and wish to register a vote for Devine—

PULL LEVEL DOWN OVER NUMBER 32B

As an admonition—VOTE EARLY—voting will necessarily have to be rapid in some of the more crowded precincts. If you vote early you are sure of not being too late.
